

FEEDBACK

I still re-read them on occasion. I suppose they will eventually turn into dust, unless toilet paper starts going for four dollars a roll, and then they may have to start turning into something else! A life time supply?? At least the box would be properly marked. Anyway, Old Bean, keep laughing while you are out there saving the world. Definitely, keep it a hobby, or at least a part time job! As one astute observer of Abbey's work (Berry, perhaps??) once noted: "The rage, without the humor, would be intolerable."

Thanks, Jim.

FLUORIDE. DR. STRANGELOVE & MATRIMONY SPRING

Stiles,
It's a conspiracy! The powers that be have taken note of Moab and in particular, the Moabites. It took them a long time to figure out why you weren't all going along with their propAganda, but they finally figured out that you weren't drinking their fluoride. So they came up with a plan to get you all high on fluoride, which is a drug listed in any drug reference book and with effects being pacification of a person and turning you into a docile slug. Casinos in Las Vegas have removed the fluoride from their water because you will gamble less if you are under its influence. Military forces are served good water without fluoride because they will care more and fight more. Let's get one thing straight, fluoride is a drug. It can bind with calcium through osmosis but putting the hazardous waste through your entire bloodstream is not helping your teeth. It is causing cancers throughout your body and immediately putting you under its influence.

Your government knows this and has done extensive research on the subject.

"They" want you drinking the drug, fluoride, so that they can get away with a list of environmental heists. There has been no test that shows ANY contamination. The statement made by the agenda smoking government mouth was that there is a "possibility" of contamination, not that there has been any contamination actually found. This could be said of ANY water supply. It says absolutely nothing. Besides that, we don't go around and cap off every untreated water source to "protect" people. At most, we post a sign saying it might not be safe. How will they cap the Colorado? I hear it might be contaminated too?!

You're being scammed big-time with this water scare. Don't believe the Bull. There is an agenda and a web being woven around you and they will start with the water. History indeed repeats itself, which is what we see here with this Matrimony Springs Balogna.

Both Hitler and Stalin used fluoride to flood their Ghettos because of its proven result of pacifying the people. I.G. Farben, Nazi scientist did extensive research on the drug before using on the Jews and bringing the technology to America. After spiking the water supply, the drug allowed the Nazis to reduce their security in the Jewish ghettos by 80%. Fluoridating a water supply is nothing new.

For the naysayers who think it's helping their teeth, the foundational research done on fluoride saying it's good for your teeth was done by the Moore science institute. The Moore Science Institute is the same group of science for hire's that also certified that smoking Viceroy cigarettes was... you guessed it, good for your teeth. The ADA was agreeing with Alcoa that smoking Viceroy's was good for your teeth.

Sound familiar? Alcoa and the aluminum industry are the ones behind fluoride being "good for your teeth." They've spent boatloads of money bribing scientists to say that their byproduct helps your teeth because fluoride is a by-product of aluminum.
